Early in the establishment of the Blue Ridge High School the emblem on this page became a significant symbol.

The torch of learning sheds its light of education and enlightenment over the local area so appropriately depicted in the Pennsylvania State Keystone.

In the top portion of the Keystone is depicted the natural beauty of the valley between Hallstead and New Milford as seen from the school.

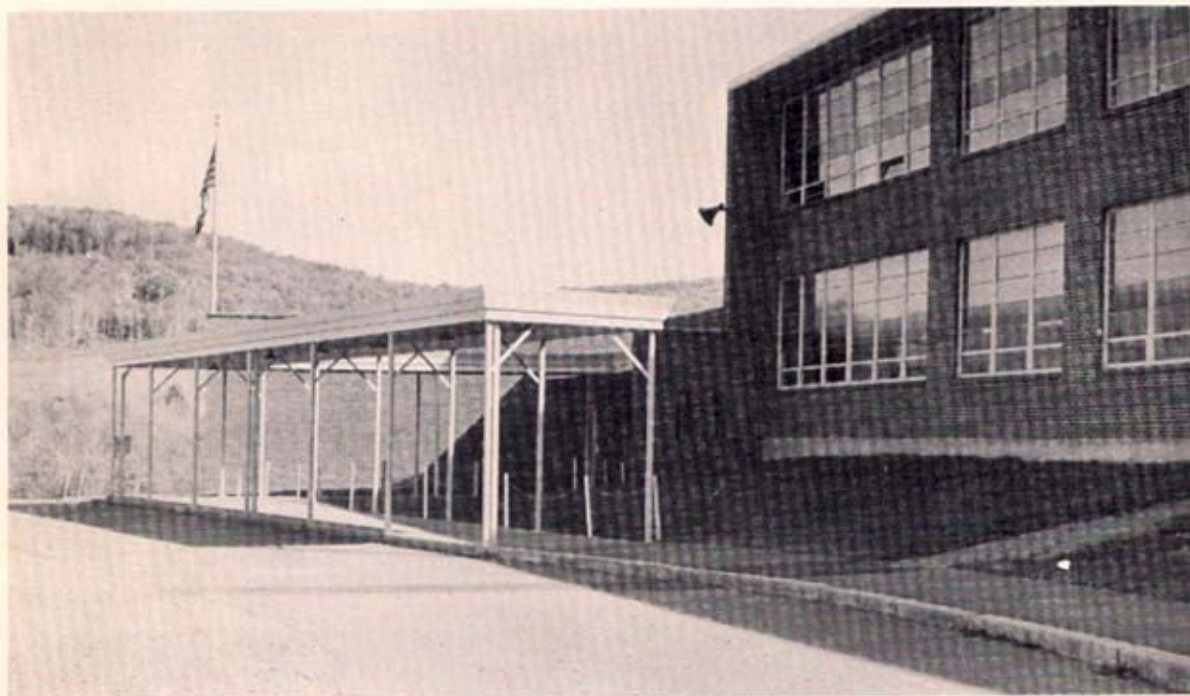

In the left portion is the plow, calling attention to the fertile and thriving farm area in the Jackson and New Milford areas.

The stone arrowhead in the right-hand side calls attention to the Indian lore along the Susquehanna River in the Great Bend-Hallstead section.

BLUE RIDGE

Alma Mater

On thy hills of green,
Like a stately queen,
We behold thee Blue Ridge High
Alma Mater thou, lead thy students now,
In the paths our minds should follow.
Hail to thee, oh majesty,
Teacher of the truth,
Guide and friend, with thee we spend
These golden moments of our youth.
But the time goes by, and the years will fly,
With the swiftness of the swallow.
Then we'll go our way, but a part of us
Will stay in thy halls, oh dear Blue Ridge,
Hail oh Blue Ridge High.

Gym Exhibition and Open House

These lovely dancers are one of the humorous parts of Blue Ridge's annual Gym Exhibition and Open House.

The Burton twins, Donald and Ronald, took part by performing gymnastics on the flying rings.

This handsome horse is our mascot. He tries to help our cheerleaders during pep rallies.

Terry Donahue demonstrates some pottery work done in art classes.
